With more than seventeen years of experience, Maggie Lujardo has litigated in both the civil and criminal arenas. Ms. Lujardo has dedicated a great majority of her time specializing in civil and commercial litigation, as well as real estate transactional matters. She has represented multi-billion dollar corporations with respect to premises and general liability cases and is licensed to practice in both state and federal court.

Professional Background

After a successful career in corporate America, Ms. Lujardo earned her juris doctorate at St. Thomas University Law School in 2001. She was immediately recruited by the Miami Dade County State Attorney's Office to prosecute misdemeanor and felony cases where she tried dozens of jury and non-jury trials.

Prior to joining Pena, Garcia & Diz, Ms. Lujardo gained more than fifteen years in the civil arena specializing in general liability litigation defense. She was a sole practitioner for more than ten years with a continued focus on the defense of large retail corporations; and gaining experience handling other general legal matters including preparation of business contracts, real property transactions and residential and commercial evictions. Ms. Lujardo has successfully tried numerous premises liability and auto accident cases to verdict on behalf of her clients.

Maggie's personal experience as a business owner provides her special perspective and insight into better serving our clients' needs.

As the daughter of immigrant parents, Maggie understands the value of commitment and a strong work ethic. She has lived most of her life in Miami; and is fully bilingual in English and Spanish.
